Register Now for 10th International IPM Symposium
Implementing IPM across Borders and Disciplines

Invasive pests, new IPM technologies, and human health pests like ticks and rodents will be prominently featured at the 10th International Integrated Pest Management (IPM) Symposium. Registration is now open for the event, to be held February 28 to March 3, 2022 at the Sheraton Denver Downtown Hotel in Denver, Colorado USA. The symposium is the premier global event for learning the latest technologies for effectively managing pests, networking with leading scientists and IPM professionals, and sharing expertise. Those who register by February 4 will pay a reduced price.

Symposium highlights:

- Keynote talks by recipients of the IPM Lifetime Achievement Awards in Excellence, Dr. Thomas Green, Dr. Tony Shelton, and Dr. Charles Vincent
- Mini-symposia featuring experts addressing hot topics in the IPM field, such as non-agricultural applications in communities, new technologies in entomology and plant pathology, and global and social challenges
- More than 40 concurrent sessions designed for practitioners, growers, educators, consultants, researchers, industry professionals, students, governmental employees, and non-governmental organization employees
- Recognition of the winners of the IPM Achievement Awards, which honor those who have made outstanding achievements in IPM adoption, implementation, and sustainability
- Over 120 poster presentations of best practices and research
- Field trips around Denver featuring behind-the-scenes tours of the Butterfly Pavilion, Botanic Gardens, Novel Strand Brewery, and Museum of Nature & Science
- Exhibits from leading IPM suppliers

The Symposium opens on Monday, February 28 at 5:00 p.m. with keynote presentations and announcement of the IPM Achievement Awards. The closing session will end at noon on Thursday, March 3.

Register now and take advantage of the early bird price of $400. The registration fee includes admission to all symposium sessions, Wednesday poster session reception, three continental breakfasts, and refreshment breaks. The special price is good until February 4. To register, visit ipmsymposium.org/2022/registration.
